

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

INFORMATION REPORT

This material contains information affecting the National Defense of the United States within the meaning of the Espionage Laws, Title 18, U.S.C. Secs. 793 and 794, the transmission or revelation of which in any manner to an unauthorized person is prohibited by law.

C-O-N-F-I-D-E-N-T-I-A-L

COUNTRY	USSR Propaganda Lectures Given to Soviet Border Guard Troops	DATE DISTR. APR 4 1955
DATE OF INFO.		NO. OF PAGES 2 REQUIREMENT NO. RD REFERENCES UNEVALUATED Information
	THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT THE APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TE (FOR KEY SEE REVERSE)

ARMY review completed.

25 YEAR RE-REVIEW

C-O-N-F-I-D-E-N-T-I-A-L

	,
STATE	x#	ARMY	x#	NAVY	x#	AIR X#	FBI #	AEC

CONFIDENTIAL

BJECT Propaganda Lectures Given to Soviet NO. OF PAGES 1 Border Guard Troops		The state of the s
DATE DISTR. 28 Feb. 1955 BBJECT Propaganda Lectures Given to Soviet NO. OF PAGES 1 BOTH Guard Troops ALE OF INFORMATION ACE ACQUIRED THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION THE USSR was on the uniformation, that the USSR was on the uniformation, that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the uniforation of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. Dorder guard solders did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chidding		REPORT
THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION The uniformation The uniformation is unated that the USSR was on The only other specific theme USSR was in favor of the uniformation of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen to the lectures, however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond childing		25X1
THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION The uniformation The uniformation of germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week.	OUNTRY USSR	DATE DISTR. 28 Feb. 1955
THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION This is unevaluated information This is unevaluated information This is unevaluated information Triendly terms with many other nations, that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the USSR was information in the unit of the	UBJECT Propaganda Lectures Given to Soviet	NO. OF PAGES 1
THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION Triendly terms with many other nations, that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of dermany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week.	PATE OF INFORMATION	REFERENCES: 25X1
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the USSR was on that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually with out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding		2011
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	LACE ACQUIRED
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. Dorder guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding
this theme claimed that the USSR was on friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding friendly terms with many other nations, that the US wanted war, that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	414 - 41 41
that the USSR did not desire war, and that the USSR would eventually win out. The subjects and themes were always the same. The only other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	friendly terms with many other nations, that the	it the USSH was on ne HS wanted war.
other specific theme was the one which stated that the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	that the USSR did not desire war, and that the	USSR would eventually the USSR was in favor of the unification of Germany and that other powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	win out. The subjects and themes were always t powers were not. During the Korean war, political officers also claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological warfare. The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	the USSR was in favor of the unification of Ger	many and that other
The presentation of propaganda was given almost entirely by the political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	powers were not. During the Korean war, politi	cal officers also political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	claimed that the US engaged in bacteriological	warfare.
political officers and was in the form of lectures. Soviet propaganda films were shown twice each week; propaganda of a political nature occupied an average of four to six hours a week. border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	The presentation of propaganda was given almost	entirely by the border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	nolitical officers and was in the form of lectu border guard soldiers did not listen to the lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	borrer officers and was in one form of fecto	res. Soviet lectures. The political officer warned the soldiers that questions would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	propaganda films were shown twice each week: pr	opaganda of a would be asked at the next lecture on the contents of previous lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	propaganda films were shown twice each week; pr political nature occupied an average of four to	ropaganda of a six hours a week.
lectures; however, the soldiers still did not listen and could never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	propaganda films were shown twice each week; pr political nature occupied an average of four to border guard soldiers did not	ropaganda of a six hours a week.
never answer the questions. They claimed to have forgotten the answers but the political officer took no action beyond chiding	propaganda films were shown twice each week; prepolitical nature occupied an average of four to border guard soldiers did not lectures. The political officer warned the sol	ropaganda of a six hours a week. collisten to the ldiers that questions propaganda films were shown twice each week; prepolitical nature occupied an average of four to border guard soldiers did not lectures. The political officer warned the sol would be asked at the next lecture on the contellectures; however, the soldiers still did not 1	ropaganda of a six hours a week. collisten to the diers that questions ents of previous disten and could onem for perug pouhta.	propaganda films were shown twice each week; prepolitical nature occupied an average of four to border guard soldiers did not lectures. The political officer warned the sol would be asked at the next lecture on the contellectures; however, the soldiers still did not I never answer the questions. They claimed to ha	ropaganda of a six hours a week. I listen to the ldiers that questions ents of previous listen and could ave forgotten the propaganda films were shown twice each week; prepolitical nature occupied an average of four to border guard soldiers did not lectures. The political officer warned the sol would be asked at the next lecture on the contellectures; however, the soldiers still did not lectures; however, the soldiers still did not lectures answer the questions. They claimed to have answers but the political officer took no actions.	ropaganda of a six hours a week. I listen to the ldiers that questions ents of previous listen and could ave forgotten the propaganda films were shown twice each week; prepolitical nature occupied an average of four to border guard soldiers did not lectures. The political officer warned the sol would be asked at the next lecture on the contellectures; however, the soldiers still did not lectures; however, the soldiers still did not lectures answer the questions. They claimed to have answers but the political officer took no actions.	ropaganda of a six hours a week. I listen to the ldiers that questions ents of previous listen and could ave forgotten the

CONFIDENTIAL